DEDICATION

*Written Boldly in

are the names of those students who have done things really worth remembering this year. To those honest and conscientious students who worked hard, made good friends, and took part in school activities, we dedicate this 1959 CHIPS.

M. J. G.

Football Captain Bob White claims a kiss from Homecoming Queen Crystal Starr. In the background is Tom Sollenberger, escort for the Queen.

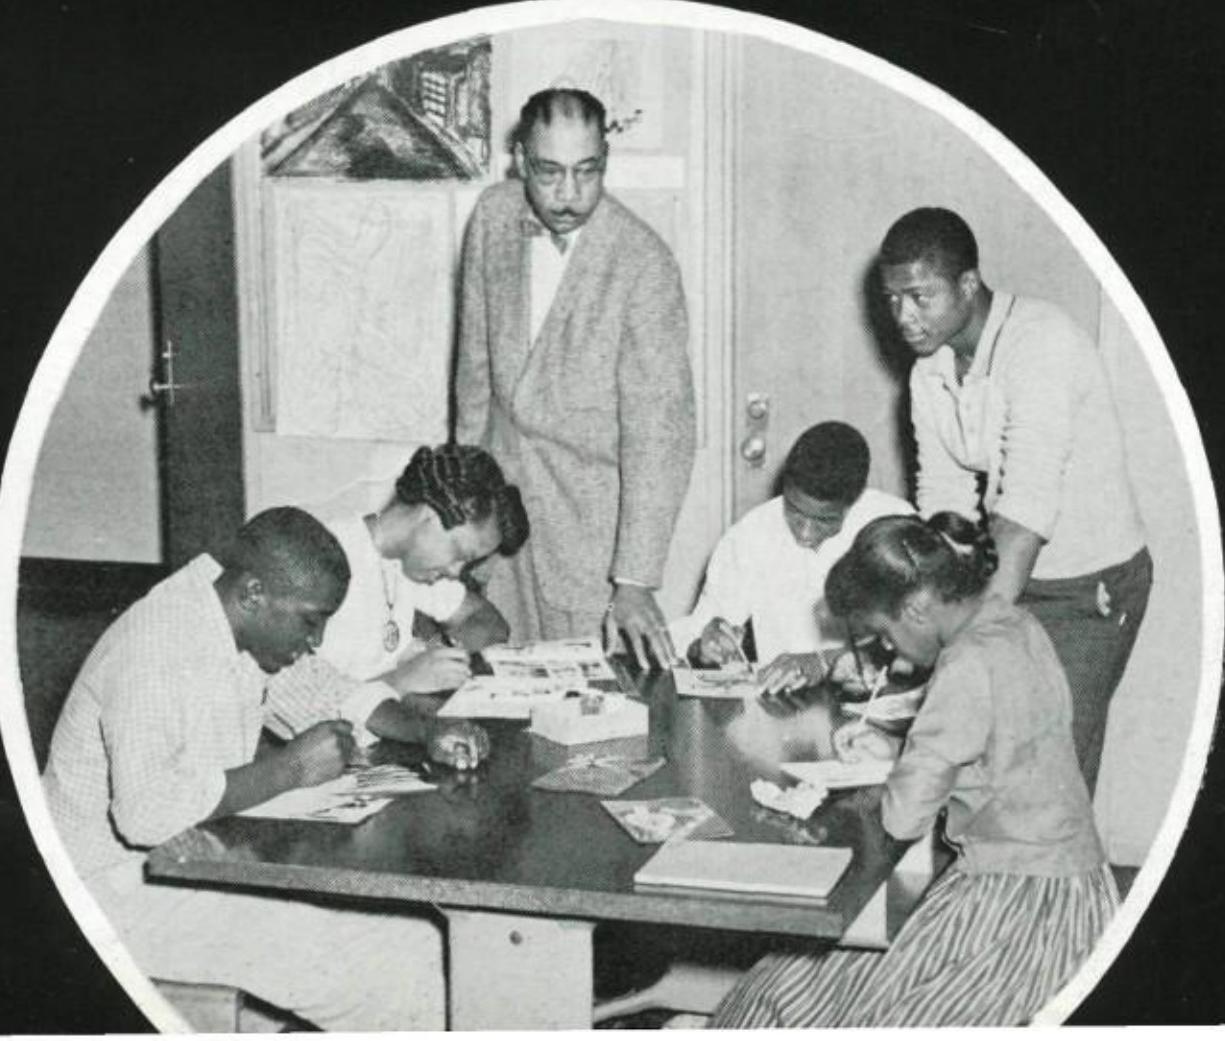

Ermytrude Cox (standing) leads a problem discussion group in a unit on Tragedy in Literature. Other members of the group are James Pyle and Gilbert Flores, first row; and Lous Adams, Dan Altman, and Barbara Anderson, second row.

"Pop" Ewing, junior class principal who retired last year, directs the grand march of the 1958 Junior Class Prom.

So Much Happened This Year

Willie Snoddy, number one, rounds the corner and is off for a good gain. We'll miss this boy next year.

Annie Parham and Carolyn Chatlos welcome Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stevens, special guests for the Parents' Night Football game.

At the Latin Banquet are Lyman Tieman, Joe Knopp, John Aiken, and Craig Humreys in the first row; and Jim Huff and Sandra Kooinga in the background.

To Put In Our Diary

"Know Your Community Day" brought tours to important businesses and industries for small faculty groups. At the Illinois Bell Telephone Company offices are Mr. Weber, Miss McGruder, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Bradley, Miss Danahy, Mrs. Hansen, and Mr. Stokes. Escort on the tour was Mr. Johnson (shirt sleeves.)

New Facilities For Us To Use . . .

Dear Joe:

It has been lots of fun in Math this year. Will see you next year. Best of Luck in everything.

Sandy Allen

"60"

Dear Joe, it's on
It was a nice on the band trip, lots of luck to a real swell kid, hope you will continue your band career.

Students enjoy the magazines in the Lounge area of the new Center. Library aides John Bellile and Donna Bachmann are trying to keep the magazines in alphabetical order.

Dr. Richards extends the gavel to incoming PFA President George Dring. To the right is the retiring president, Rev. Robert Brushl. In the background, retiring treasurer Clegg Ledford.

Dr. Richards is pictured with Mr. Leslie I. McCord, president of the Board of Education.

Superintendent

"THE STRENGTH OF A MAN IS MEASURED BY HIS SUPPORT"

No man has ever stood behind us so greatly in both physical and moral support, and no superintendent has ever been loved, respected, and admired by the faculty and student body of any school, more than our own Dr. Harold Richards.

After thirty years of faithful and devoted service to us, he is an integral part of our scholastic life. Truly it can be said that this school is only the shadow of a man grown tall, and that man is

OUR SUPERINTENDENT.

Joe Carrero and his physics lab project are the center of much attention at the P.F.A. Open House, held in May 1958.

Will these three trouble shooters ever find the trouble with this Olds? William Barzycki, Ron Gentry and Dan Altman.

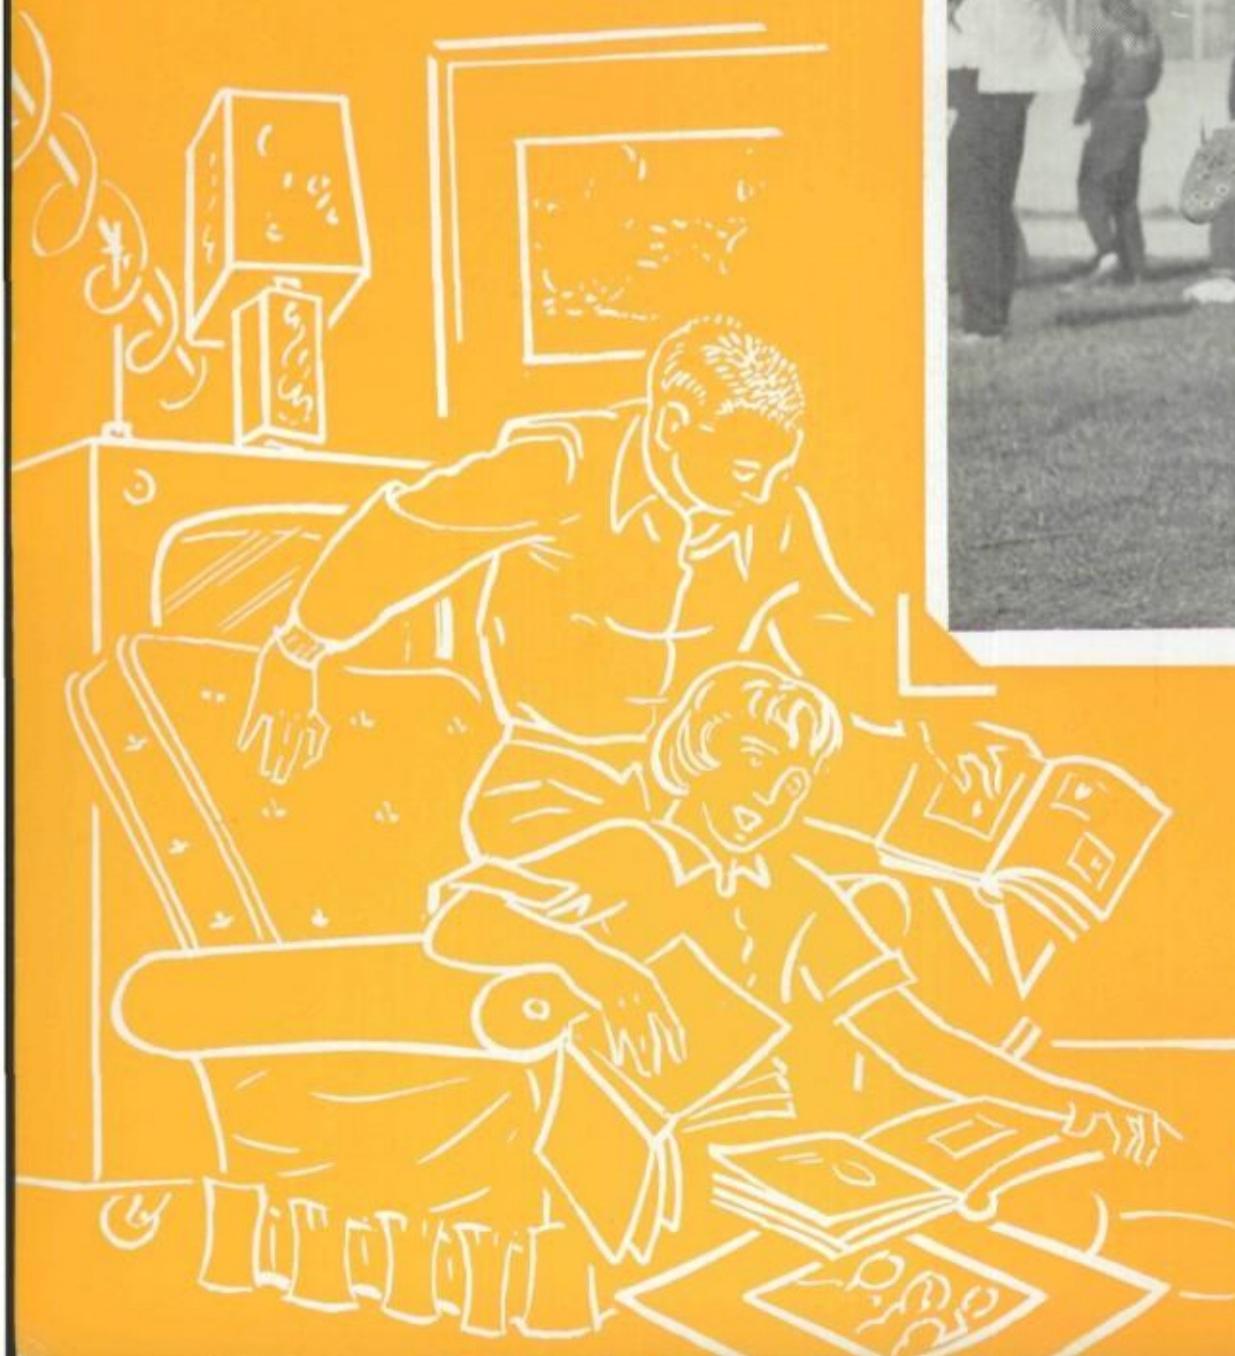

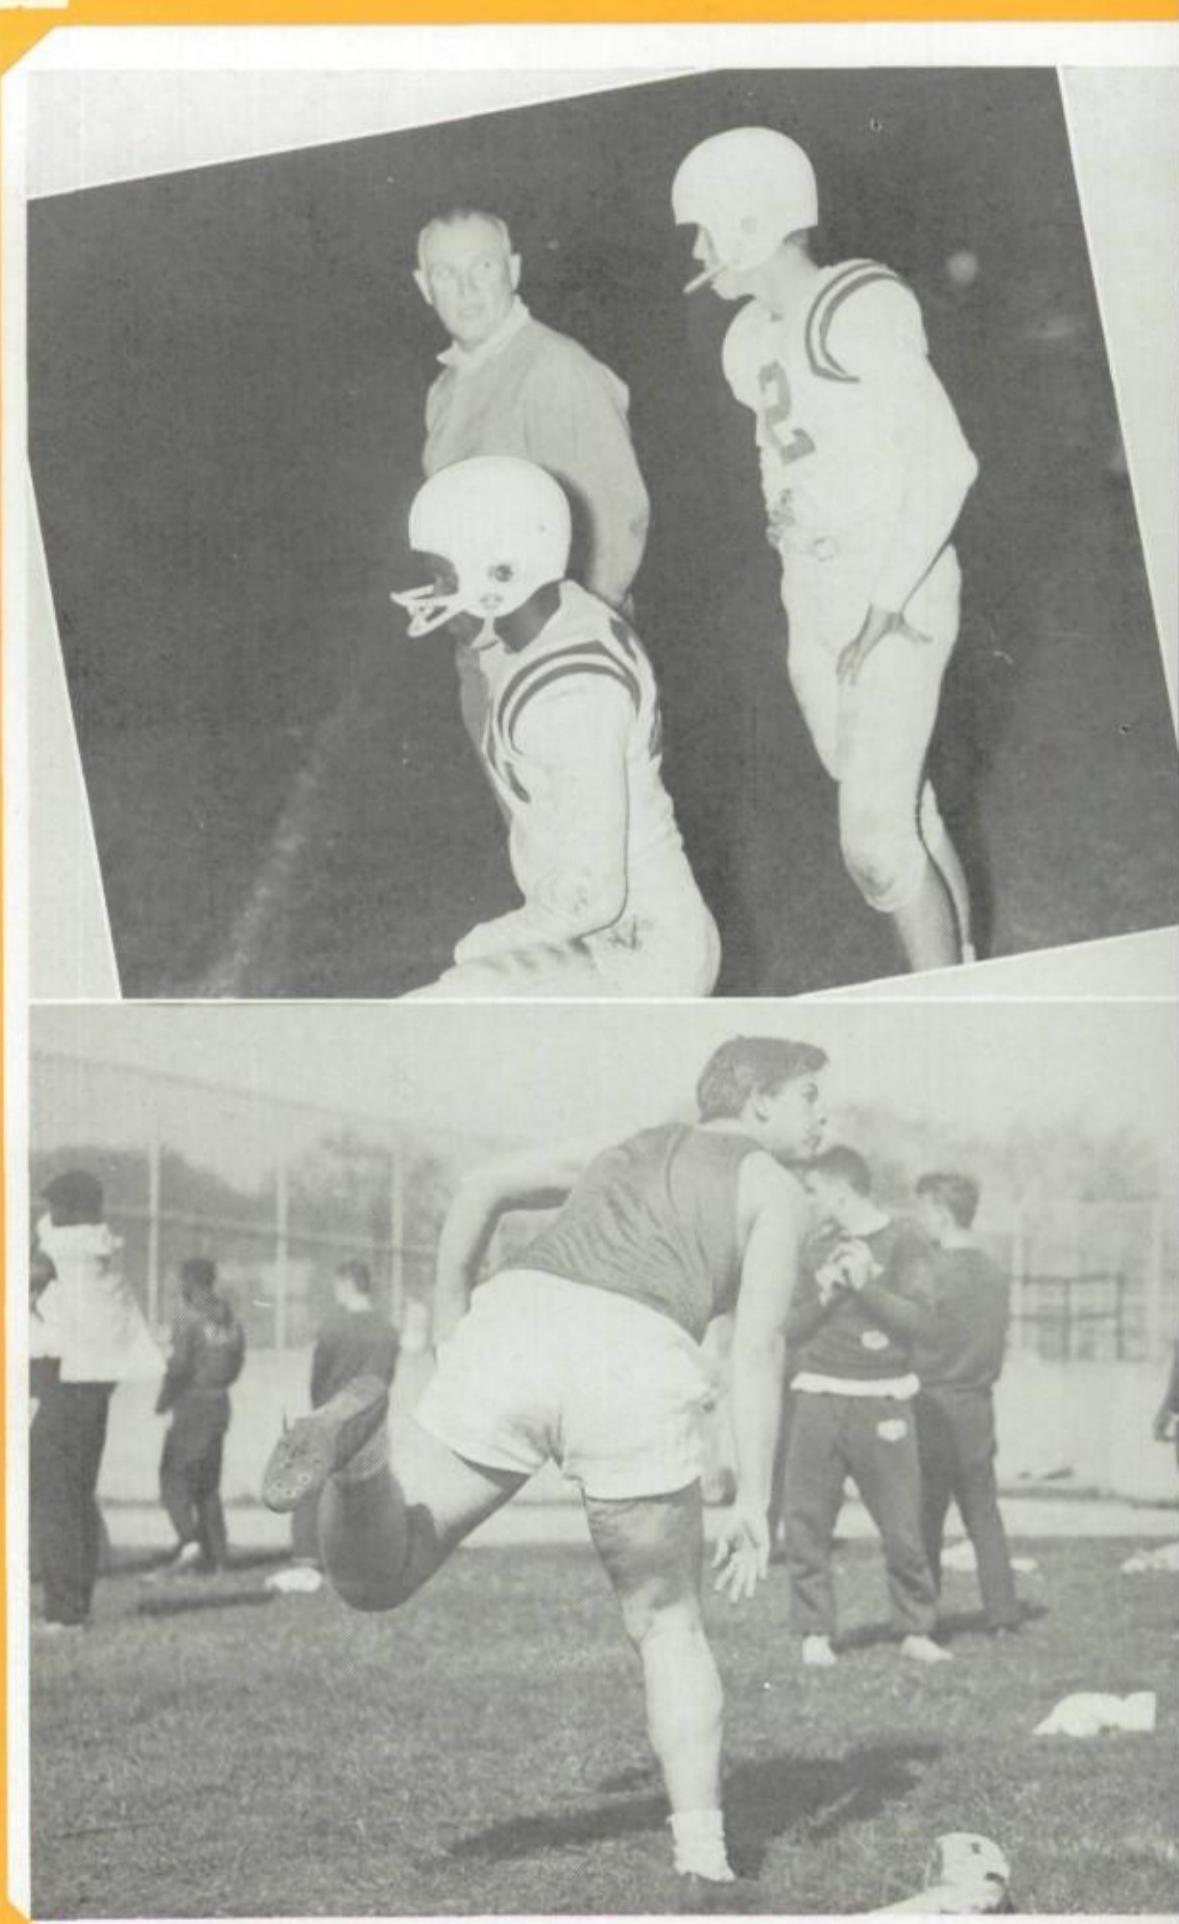

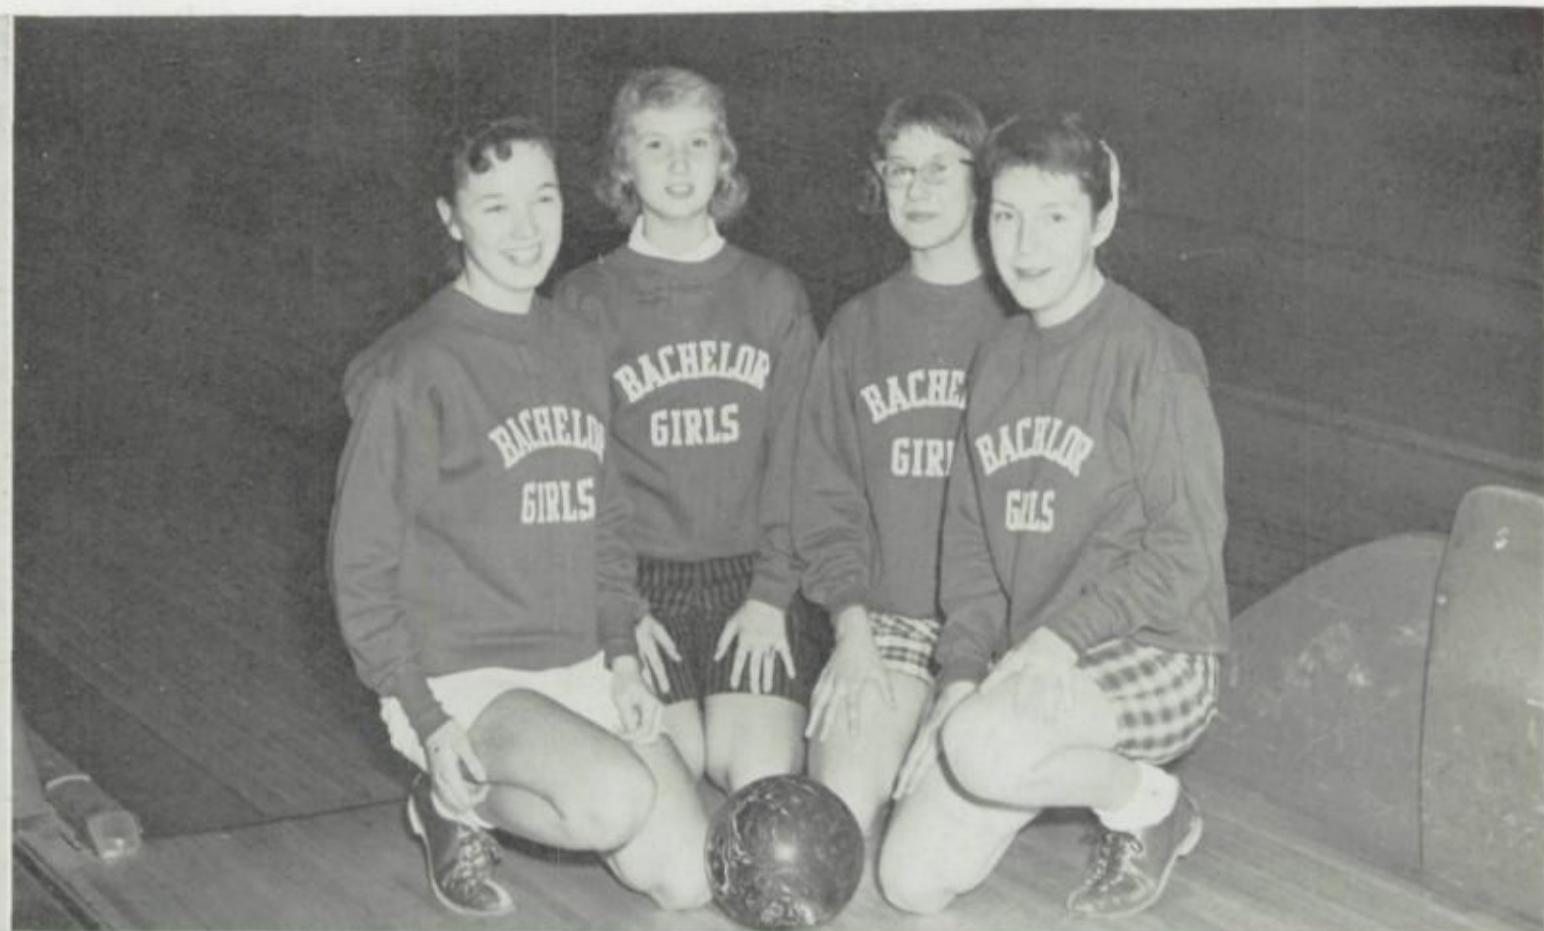

At Old Main Patricia Bush and Pam Grill assist Carol Anderson in pinning her pattern. Donna Hecker (seated) is working on another project.

Dear Joe,

Congratulations on making the National Honors Society. Lots of luck and I hope to have you in a class
next year.

Wang Lee Colvin
"60"

Coach Gutches given some last minute instructions to Cledell Gaston (kneeling) and John Burke, who are about ready to go into the game.

Tom Shirmang throwing the shot.

GIRLS' BOWLING — OLD MAIN

On the Girls Bowling League, left to right, Pam Jones, Donna Marshall, Susie Williams and Sherrie Richmond are known as the "Bachelor Girls".

In the sophomore game with Thornton, Milt Collier (24) has rebounded and is starting to dribble out to give to Fergeson (11).

Her Majesty, Queen Crystal Starr.

THE QUEEN AND HER COURT

Escorts Ron Alderson and Roger Friedholm, Football Captain Bob White, who crowned the queen, and Maids of Honor JoAnne LaMorte, Betty Miller, Queen Crystal Starr, and Maid of Honor Ruth Serbantez.

LEYDEN GAME

Bet John Cianci (dark jersey, number 3) is hoping the Leyden player drops this one — but he didn't! Never let a man get behind you, John!

Jack Stalley (number 21) is off and running for a long gain against Leyden. Brizic is ready to give any help that will be necessary.

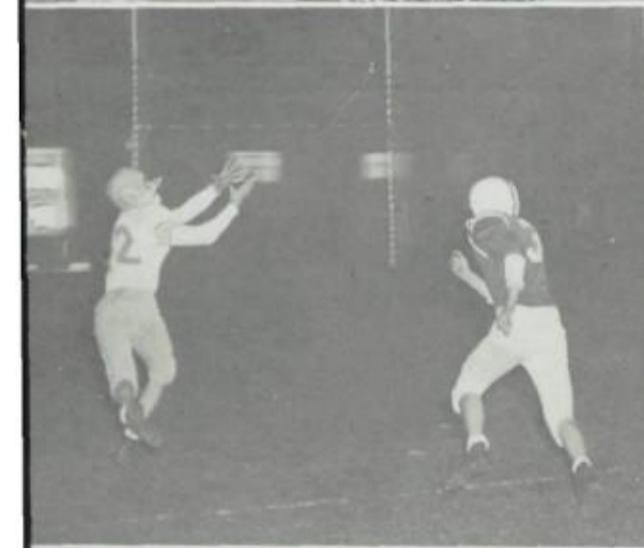

The Leyden player is about to clip Pierre (number 16) but bet Pierre will make the tackle with the help of Davis. Don't think White (number 33) will get there in time.

KANKAKEE GAME

Jack Stalley picks up good yardage with lots of help from Willie Snoddy, Cledell Caston and John Burke.

Cledell Caston is off for a good gain in the KKK game, aided by Ronald Burke, number 2, and Willie Snoddy, number 1.

Mothers of the varsity squad members were given mums and dads were escorted to special seats on the field. Annie Parham, Sandra Dini, Marilyn Strezo, and Joyce Dudek are greeting Mr. and Mrs. Pollard and Mrs. Gillespie.

GRADUATING SENIORS

WILLIE SNODDY, 1

Very good half back. Tough on both offense and defense. All South Suburban League selection, and nominated for all state. Will make a good college player. A gentleman at all times.

AL BARD, 10

Here's a boy with great desire. Played offensive end.

RAY CANTELLO, 11

Another dependable boy. Another year he would probably have played regularly.

DAN ALTMAN, 12

Very good offensive guard. Lots of desire.

RUSSELL ANDERSON, 14

One of the most valuable boys on the squad because of his ability to kick extra points. Will be missed.

JIM CIANCI, 15

Could have been a good football player. Needed more desire to be a fine player.

BONNIE GILLESPIE, 18

A dependable reserve guard.

JOHN BRUNO, 19

Didn't come out for Frosh-Soph football, which was a handicap too great to over come for a regular position. Very dependable.

HERB DAVIS, 23

Pleasant surprise his senior year. Tough on defense. Will be missed.

DAVE SMITH, 25

Very valuable as a boy that you could depend on to set the ball correctly for our place kicks.

BOB BUCIAK, 30

Nice boy to coach. Tough on defense and offense. Chosen on all South Suburban League team. Good college prospect.

TOM SHIRMAN, 32

A real tower of strength on both offense and defense. Great desire. All South Suburban League tackle.

BOB WHITE, 33

Very good player. Hard worker. All South Suburban League tackle. Acting captain all games.

MIKE WATTS, 36

Very dependable.

DAN KLUCHINS, 39

Came out his junior year and made great progress. Good boy to coach. Would have been a regular had he played Frosh-Soph football.

Library aide, Beverly Baumann, and an art associate are decorating the double-glass display case, through which one has a general view of the Aides Center.

The periodical room is used for magazine references. Here, student aides Julia Dyrucz, Betty Johnson, Gerald Kaiser, and Donna Meyer, are using the Readers Guide, finding references, and replacing magazines in their appropriate boxes.

An ardent student follows the stock market quotations through newspapers in the Social Studies room.

The round tables, surrounded by leatherback chairs, are favorites with the students. Donna Nunnally is inspecting the books on the shelves to see that they are in order.

One of the projects of the Old Main Library Club is the sale of teen age books to interested students. The club feels that this is a worthy project, as any student can, in this way, get his own library started. Here Susan Borckman, chairman of the project, displays some of the current offerings of the club to the other library aides. Others in the picture are Doris Papke, Neil Crist, Pamela Denton, John Burgeson, Barbara Genis, Richard Schultz, and Jim Murphy. Mrs. Jones is the sponsor.

These people help students at the main charging desk where two week books are taken and returned: They are, left to right: Tom Forys, Sandy Hootman, Frank Koncewicz, Kathy Bovatsek, Ron Zielinski, Bill Wesselman, and Toni Peco. Tom and Bill are usually "snowed under" the first period with the overnight books returned before 8:30. Sandy and Frank both suffer tired arms after the 8:15 rush when many books are charged out and many are returned. The happy spirit of these people make service in the library worthwhile.

OLD MAIN LIBRARIANS REALLY WORK

Arlene Sherner, freshman library aide at Old Main, is pulling cards from the catalog for books which are no longer in the library.

Evelyn Ostrowsky, sophomore library aide at Old Main, is pasting book pockets and date due slips in new books just added to the library.

Nancy Matthews, freshman library aide at Old Main, is helping Mr. Bartley, assistant librarian, make an index of ratings for books.

Barbara Sladik, freshman library aide at Old Main, is writing notices for overdues books.

Bill Sautter, freshman library aide at Old Main, is checking a bibliography against the library holdings.

Bobbi Reihel sorts the two week books and files the cards in order. Jackie Sneed takes care of the filing of overnight materials. Bruce Bambach shelves books so all will be in order for the morning rush at 8:15 A.M.

Sharon Williams, freshman library aide at Old Main, is reading the shelves.

SOUTHWEST BUILDING LIBRARY AIDS

Teely Rhyne brings new magazines to Geraldine McCammon and Alvern Bell who check them at the circulation desk, while Priscilla Lane trims pictures and clippings.

Michael Bryant is at the catalog, Ivory Lampkin arranges the daily newspapers, Cleveland Parker files catalog cards and John Williams puts the magazines in order.

SOUTHWEST BUILDING OFFICE AIDES

Busy at the work Miss Goodwin has assigned them, these are the office aides at Southwest. At the desk: Veronica Johnson, Brenda Fuller, Raquel Gomez. At the file: Lyla Rainey, Beatrice Ervin.

Wendy Fischer and Lois Adams, student aides in the counselor's office.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

GIRLS PHYSICAL EDUCATION — SOUTHWEST

Even the mat racks at Southwest get a work-out from these athletic minded girls.

"I wonder if I can really trust my teacher," thinks Cynthia Miller, who is being supported in an airplane balance by Miss McGruder.

Making like human pretzels are Georgia Smith, Evelyn Monroe, and Brenda Fuller. Don't they have any bones at all?

These mats and parallel bars are really getting a workout. Demonstrating the split is Barbara Brown. Holding a hand spring with support, at opposite ends of the bars are Janice Letting and Marianne Sledge. Gloria Harrison, with a bent arm balance, and Cheryl Williams, with a hand balance, are on the bars. At the back is Miss McGruder, seeing that no one gets a nasty fall.

BOYS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Robert Beard goes up for a shot with Gordon Woods about ready to follow.

Curtis Colquitt shoots, followed by Joe Harms, John Klein, and Nick Guglielmucci. In other line Robert Beard, Tom Logsdon, Donald Carroll, David Bogda, and Norman Haggard.

Rudy Mulderink starts a lay up shot while Raymond Gorres and Carl Swain will follow.

Melvin Motley and Michael Henderson hold ropes while Willie Lampkin and Ralph Letting climb.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

Dwight Lorenzano and George Jester put the finishing touches in the bottom display case, while Richard Overbeek (back to camera) and Bob Kotscki make comments about their own work.

Joanne Host, Mr. Bailey's student aide, types a ditto copy for later reproduction.

Under the supervision of his manager, Nick Carrico, Fred Robishaw builds an attractive display at the National Foods store where he is employed.

At the Worth Hardware Mrs. Holmberg and Dwight Lorenzano check the quality of a newly arrived shipment of candles for the gift department.

At Mikulina's Bakery, Fran Mikulina shows D.E. student Stella Trainauskas how to make an attractive window display.

Diane Saich gathers information from a prospect via telephone as Mrs. Anna Lundin, real estate broker of the Oak Forest Home and Land Co., checks her list.

Trainer Vern Roegner, of Vern's Supermarket, checks on Kenny Miller as he stocks a frozen foods container.

Gerry Bertello learns how to use the battery mark off sheet from Lee Christiansen, assistant manager at Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Under the supervision of her trainer, Mrs. Crockett, the department manager, Bonnie Kaye makes a telephone sale at Marshall Field and Company.

Supervisor Edward Olson, of Quality Electric Supply, checks on the folders Louise Horvath has been typing.

Mr. Ruekberg, student trainer at Cities Service Lumber Co., approves the attractive display of locks which Ted Grant is putting on the shelves.

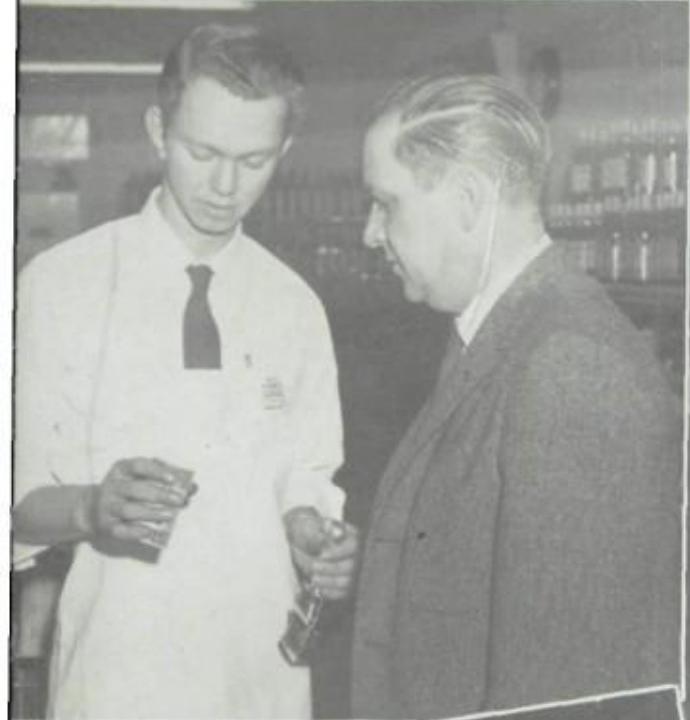

Mr. Henry Baumann, owner of the Mayfair, shows student Sharron Carboneau some new merchandise which has just arrived.

Anna Kysiak learns how to handle a lay-away payment from Emma Jean Muller, office manager, and Irving King, assistant manager, at Kline's Department Store.

Leonard Kannberg, assistant manager of the Pick-N-Save in Worth, sees that Bruce Kraiss has his shelves fully stocked.

Tom Spindler, D.E. student at Carson Pirie Scott and Co., takes inventory of new Martex towels as Bill Mitchell, assistant manager, checks them off.

Dolores Faile gets some help from her trainer, Mr. Kocon, owner of the Band B IGA store in Calumet Park, as she checks Mrs. Nancy Lussenhop's purchases.

Bob Kotschi learns how to detect bruised produce from Earl Haney, his supervisor and the owner of the Market Basket, in Worth.

As Joetta Edgar checks out her customer, Mrs. Robert Boye, 116th, and Ridgeland in Worth, Larry Haney, owner of the Market Basket, and Rosetta Freezlinger, in charge of the store's cashiers, check her accuracy.

At the Consolidated Plywood Co., Alice Duffels looks in the files for an item requested by Lorraine Kane, bookkeeper.

D.E. student John Peterson, employed at Island Petroleum in Chicago, services the car of a steady customer.

Jacquelyn Morehead's selling technique is checked by Lois Dryer, personnel supervisor at Kresge's, in Evergreen Plaza.

Bill Roger, produce manager at the Market Basket, shows student learner Richard Overbeck how to check stock with the invoice sheet.

DIVERSIFIED OCCUPATIONS PROGRAM

"WHEREVER YOU GO, YOU'LL FIND D.O."

DIVERSIFIED OCCUPATIONS CLASS

D.O. IS TEN YEARS OLD THIS YEAR

Dads make good trainers, too, James Sanoris, Jr. will testify. The two are cutting chrysanthemums at the Sanoris Greenhouse.

Arthur Lockman (right) gives his brother Don, student trainer at the Blue Island Publishing Corporation, instruction on setting up the guides on a Miller Simplex Press.

Ed Swartz and Mr. Al Milka, master gunsmith at Marshall Field and Co., examine one of the many guns in for repair.

While Dad looks on, John Young fastens car upholstery on tightly at Young's Auto Service.

Ernest A. Vernon, owner, (right) watches Bill Kuhl perform one process in silk screening.

Tom Parsons (center) is discussing the grade of lumber with two experienced inspectors at Craftsman Hardwood Lumber Co. Left is Mr. McElroy and right is Mr. Mercer.

To put the transmission back in a '53 Ford, Art Baugh really has to "get out and get under". Mr. Gierman is the trainer.

At Hanson Billiard Supply Co., Bing Jew (left) grinds a cue down for the fiber ferule. Mr. Art Hanson is the trainer.

Trainer Mike Chanalick checks on student Paul Greves' use of the automatic welder at Miro Manufacturing Co.

Mr. Bruggink, trainer at Clark Refinery, checks on Tom Porter as he weighs and records carbon content in the laboratory.

At Ray's Service Station the owner, Ray Schwartz, gives pointers to student Bob Grace, who is putting the wheel balancer in place.

Dennis Mansmith and Bill Stortz, his trainer, check specifications on a drawing at Equipment Steel Company.

At Formold Plastics, student-learner Bob Bennett (right) checks the size of the stock to be cut in the power hack saw. His trainer is Werner Luenser.

George Bard fits in a new fender under direction from his trainer, Mr. Carl Bergmann, at Ridge Auto Rebuilders.

Trainer Ron Elsey supervises the work of Don Billish, who is replacing a carburetor on a '55 Dodge.

CADET BAND, OLD MAIN

OLD MAIN MIXED CHORUS

This group did a good deal of class room work on various operettas, hoping to prepare themselves for the Campus Building Mixed Choir.

Dear Joe, when you get married
Send me a coconut
And give me a C. O. D.
Best of luck to a new initiate of N. H. S.
Marcia Buehl, choir organist.

Professor Eric Franker, Instructor.

Professor Franker, from the Sherwood School of Music, offers a full schedule of private lessons to students and patrons of the high school.

SEVENTH PERIOD BEGINNER'S BAND

Mr. Rush checks on the laboratory assignment of John Webb and Ken Williams, who are measuring the coefficient of the linear expansion of solid bars.

This group of biology students study the various kinds and purposes of bird beaks.

STUDENTS REALLY WORK IN SCIENCE SUBJECTS--- AND REALLY LIKE IT!

In Physics lab. this group checks the ice and steam points of the thermometers and the coefficient of linear expansion of metal bars. Around the table are Jim Paddock, Bob Thune, Dave Stenek, Bob Melvin, Dick Smith, Ralph Otto, Bob Cellini, John Webb, Mr. Rush, Ken Williams, and Dave Smith.

The same double experiment occupies the attention of this foursome: Rudy Litak, Ken Orphrey, Theodore Goselink, and Bob Foss.

Mr. Fildes supervises this group, which is demonstrating the principle behind the fire extinguisher. Carbon dioxide gas is being generated, which smothers the candle flame.

The students are Russell Baird, John Melton, Roberta Esser, and Connie Wolfe.

Another group checking on ice and steam points of thermometers is composed of George Fiedler, Curtis Colquitt, Frank Cassman, Mr. Rush, Phil Hughes, Lou Rini, and Georgia Jackson.

WHAT'SIT? ? ?

John Robertson operates his project, completed in Electric Shop. Placing his hand in front of the metallic question mark on the glass of the display case, he sets in motion the capacity operated relay and turns on the phonograph and oscilloscope.

In her project, which she designed and painted for the unit on astronomy, Connie Wolfe points out the various planets. All equipment in this science room is completely new this year.

In 203, the new health room, Jill Johnston, Gerald Lindsay, Carmen Carter, and Joyce Kappel locate and lead discussion on the spinal column.

In one of Mr. Hill's Biology groups, Jeff Turner and Betty Bennett discuss the microscopic study of protozoans along with Bob Hoggatt and Joanne Muir.

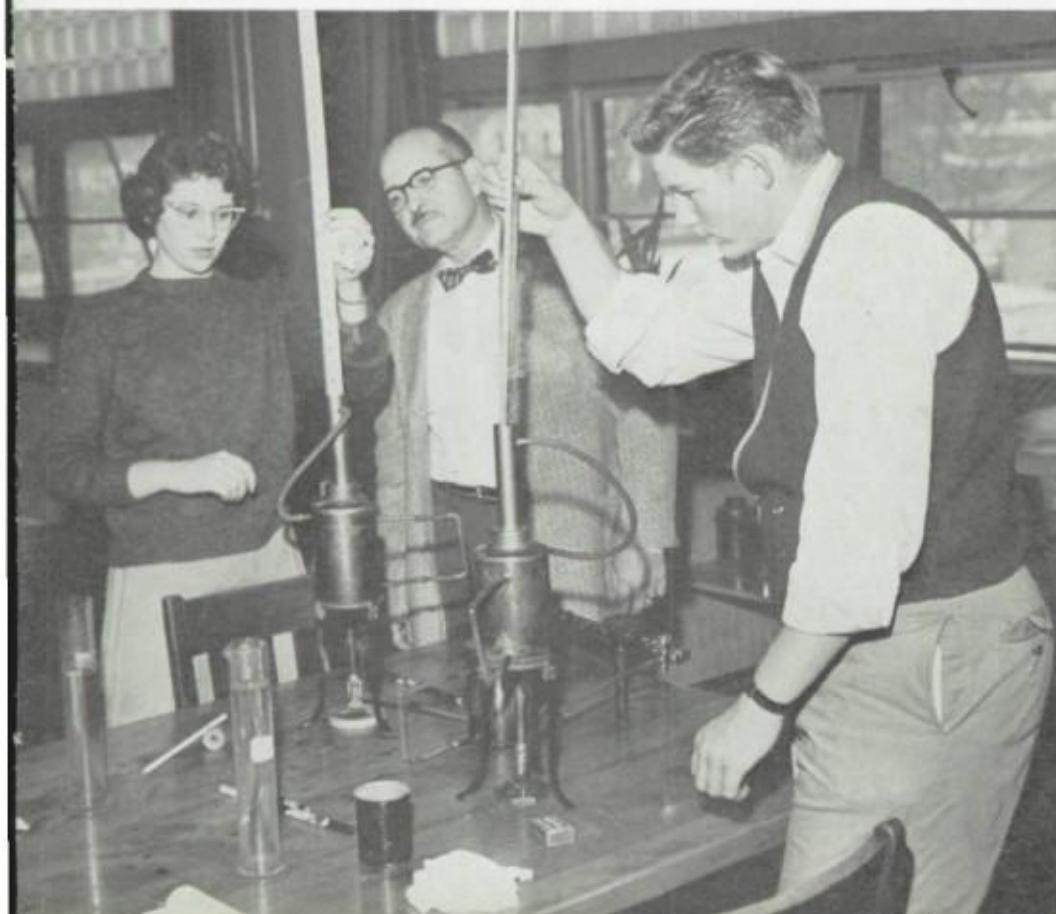

This Physics class is busy with experiments. Seated at the table facing the camera are Tom Sollanbarger and Warren Repke, who, with Jim Wilson (standing), are measuring the coefficient of linear expansion. On the other side of the table are Don Turner and Sharon Witt, measuring the heat of vaporization of water. Standing are Mr. Rush and student assistants in the laboratory, John Robertson, Lane Witt, and Ken Lundgren.

MANY EXPERIMENTS MARK SCIENCE CLASSES

Mr. Rush (center) checks on the work of Rita Des Lauriers and Tom Babb, who are verifying Charles' Law that the volume of gas varies as the Absolute Temperature.

In this experiment, salt, and purple potassium permanganate are dissolved in water. By means of distillation, Carole Sterling, Irene Tellis, Clyde Torp, and Diane Schultz separated each of the compounds from the other. Lab table, desk, and all equipment are all new this year.

CHIPS STAFF

Members of the Publications class, responsible for the production of the Chips, examine sample covers as they prepare to choose one for the 1959 book.

THEY ALSO SERVE

The tasks of the yearbook staff would not be complete without expressing sincere thanks to those who have so ably helped in making the 1959 Chips possible. Friends of long standing include Mr. Nelson Kias, financial adviser to all student publications; the Root Photographers, responsible for all our fine pictures; and the Norman King Company, making our vague beginning ideas really sparkle in planning the layout and supervising engraving, printing, binding, and complete production. Typists from Miss McQuistan's classes helped on preparing names lists for the printer. Thanks to one and all.

Staff members look through previous Chips for ideas that might be used to improve this year's annual yearbook.

Identifying pictures is just one of the many jobs performed in getting the yearbook ready for publication.

The image shows a large, intricate hand-drawn pattern. It consists of numerous small, repeating units that form a larger, organic shape. Each unit is a combination of a vertical line and a horizontal line that curves back towards the vertical line, creating a series of interconnected loops. The pattern is oriented diagonally across the page, with the top right being the densest and most complex part, tapering off towards the bottom left. The lines are thin and black, set against a plain, light-colored background.
